

The Oak Team

A volunteer crew of committed, fun-loving individuals dedicated to helping the Land Bank recover & enhance San Juan Island's native Garry oak preserve.

Garry oak habitat is biologically diverse & critical to a wide variety of native species, but now occupies only 3% of its original range. Such biologically diverse habitats are more resilient to natural disturbances than habitats containing few species, and thus important to protect.

"Oakies," as they jokingly refer to themselves, meet once a month on Cady Mountain Preserve to perform restoration work such as:

- Planting & Weeding
- Caging & Fencing
- Cutting & Limbing
- Piling & Building
- Birding & Inventorying
