"Roots of the CLT"

Special Guest

Lisa Byers, Exec. Director of OPAL on Orcas Island & national leader in the CLT movement will speak about CLTs (Community Land Trusts), a growing national and international movement of home & land ownership.

Learn About CLTs

CLTs have grown rapidly since 1969. A prototype began in the red clay of rural Georgia by stalwarts of the southern Civil Rights Movement, looking for a new way for African Americans to gain residential and economic security.

The roots of the CLT are much older, deeply anchored in political ideas and social experiments going back many years.

Lisa Byers will explore the historical origins and contemporary permutations of the CLT, introducing people, places, and events that helped to transform a provocative concept into a practical model – and a model into a movement.
