Friday Harbor, San Juan Island, WA:

The Tucker House Inn, Harrison House Suites and Coho Restaurant were recently awarded the prestigious TripAdvisor Certificate of Excellence. The Inns were also designated Bronze Level Green Leaders.

Trip Advisor, the world's largest travel site, awards Certificates of Excellence based solely on travelers' reviews posted on the site. They are awarded to businesses that consistently earn high ratings from TripAdvisor travelers. The award puts these establishments in the top-performing 10% of all businesses worldwide on TripAdvisor.

The GreenLeaders Bronze Level is awarded to lodging establishments that are committed to green practices like recycling, water efficiency and alternative energy. The higher the level, the greater the impact of a property's green practices.

“In the past few years we have concentrated our energies on the guest experience. We want their stay at our Inns or dinner at our restaurant to reflect the same magic that the Islands offer. Our staff is keenly focused on providing a memorable experience from our warm hospitality, attention to detail in their guest room or in their meal preparation, to our taking care of every guest need, and it pays off in our reviews,” explained Anna Maria de Freitas, owner of Harrison House Suites, Tucker House Inn, and Coho Restaurant. “We continually ask ourselves how we can improve on the quality of our hospitality, accommodations, food, amenities, and more,” finished de Freitas, “We are appreciative of our guests for their continued support not only at the Inns but at Coho Restaurant as well..”

About Harrison House Suites, Tucker House Inn, and Coho Restaurant:

The Harrison House Suites and Tucker House Inns are two neighboring historic properties on San Juan Island, located steps from the Friday Harbor Ferry Landing. These destination properties provide an exemplary guest experience: privacy, beautifully appointed accommodations and personalized guest services offered by a friendly staff. With six guest rooms, eight suites and three cottages, the Inns have a variety of options to fit the most discerning traveler. Together, with Coho Restaurant, the Inns’ restaurant, they use Island grown ingredients to prepare Pacific Northwest cuisine with an international flair for breakfast and dinner service. Coho’s wine list has received its 5th Award of Distinction from Wine Spectator in 2012.
